

Nature-based Solutions and global climate protection

Nature-based Solutions imply significant potentials to reduce, avoid or remove greenhouse gas emissions. This figure illustrates the total global mitigation potential of different types of Nature-based Solutions shown by ecosystem. The scale of the total potential varies significantly for different ecosystems, i.a. because the total global area of the ecosystems is different.

